

Evidence-aware evaluation moves the blame

Counts, not rates: the same runs, re-attributed. A document-level reading credits retrieval whenever any chunk of a relevant document appears; the evidence-level reading requires the supporting span itself. The difference is work an engineer would otherwise spend on the generator.